The Boone Hospital Foundation exists to support Boone Hospital Center in its mission of improving the health of the people and communities that we serve. The Foundation works to enhance and expand the programs of Boone Hospital Center by providing philanthropic support through donations, large and small.

Proceeds from this year's tournament support the Walter Johnson Palliative Care Fund. Walter Johnson was a respected economics professor at the University of Missouri and served his community as a Boone Hospital Center Trustee for 16 years.

Among his many accomplishments, Dr. Johnson played an instrumental role in implementing a palliative care program at Boone. Palliative Care, now called Supportive Care, assists individuals in planning their remaining time, affording the opportunity to embrace life to the fullest. Supportive care is about living life with dignity, respect and comfort.
