Boone Health Connection Proxy Application for Adolescent Patients Ages 12-17 Years

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT BOONE HEALTH CONNECTION PROXY

What is Proxy Access for Adolescents ages 12 to 17 years years?

Through proxy access, parents and legal guardians can keep track of vaccination records, growth charts, diagnoses, and medical instructions, as well as communicate with an adolescent's care team. Due to legal considerations, proxy access for adolescents requires the consent of the adolescent along with the adolescent's primary or long-term care provider. Privacy concerns may prevent some adolescents from seeking health care. The adolescent and his/her care provider can discuss proxy access to determine if it is in the best interest of the adolescent to share his/her medical record with others.

Why can't I automatically access my adolescent's record?

Under state and federal laws, there are designated pieces of medical information that even the adolescent's parents or guardians may not view without that adolescent's consent. These age ranges comply with regulations designed to protect the privacy of adolescent patients. Your child should discuss proxy access with his/her care provider so that the provider can explain the full implications of proxy access

Why do I no longer have access to my adolescent's record?

Access to an adolescent's Boone Health Connection account automatically expires when he/she turns 18 years old. You will receive reminder notifications in Boone Health Connection that your access will be expiring. When your child turns 18 years old he/she can grant you proxy access from their own Boone Health Connection account. Adolescents can terminate a proxy's access at any time from his/her own Boone Health Connection account.

Why does a doctor/provider need to sign this request?

We want to ensure that adolescents are fully informed about the implications of sharing medical information with a parent or guardian. Involving the adolescent's provider in the proxy request process ensures that:

- a conversation between the adolescent and his or her provider has taken place
- the adolescent makes a fully informed decision about sharing his/her medical information with a parent or guardian, and
- the adolescent's decision protects and supports his/her interests.
